About the WANALA alliance:

WANALA is a collaborative alliance, free to join, for all Aboriginal organisations, projects and activities in the region aimed at supporting, promoting, and teaching languages, and providing services such as interpreting and translation. WANALA's activities include facilitating meetings, providing professional development, and assisting professionalisation of language teacher training, employment and practices.

About membership:

WANALA's core Members are those who are actively engaged in language activities funded by the Commonwealth Government language support program (ILA/ILS).

Associate Membership is for those who want to share ideas and support increased representation of our region in the national conversations about Indigenous languages.

Members of WANALA:

- will be part of an alliance advocating for increased recognition and support of the diverse language maintenance and revitalisation situations in western and northern Australia
- receive financial support to participate in meetings and professional development events
- gain access to documents, advice and professional development on becoming a qualified language teacher or linguist, language worker training, and best practice in archiving, ICIP and more.
